AWESOME WRITING ADVICE!

HERE ARE SOME TIPS TO HELP YOU BECOME A WRITING MASTER.

Here is a sneak peek into your child's incredible journey through this workbook. Here's the scoop on what they'll gain by the time they reach that final page:

1. Capture the Scene!

Envision your narrative as a cinematic masterpiece in your mind's eye. Who inhabits your story? What do they appear as? Where is this unfolding? The more details you can visualize, the more material you must transcribe!

2. Give it a Voice!

Experiment with vocalizing your tales. Recite your narratives aloud, or invite another to perform this task. Should any text part be revised if it seems difficult to understand?

3. Embrace the Emotions!

The characters in stories have emotions similar to your own. Do they experience joy, sadness, excitement, or fear? Relaying your characters' sensibilities renders your narrative tangible and electric.

4. Courageously Confront Mistakes!

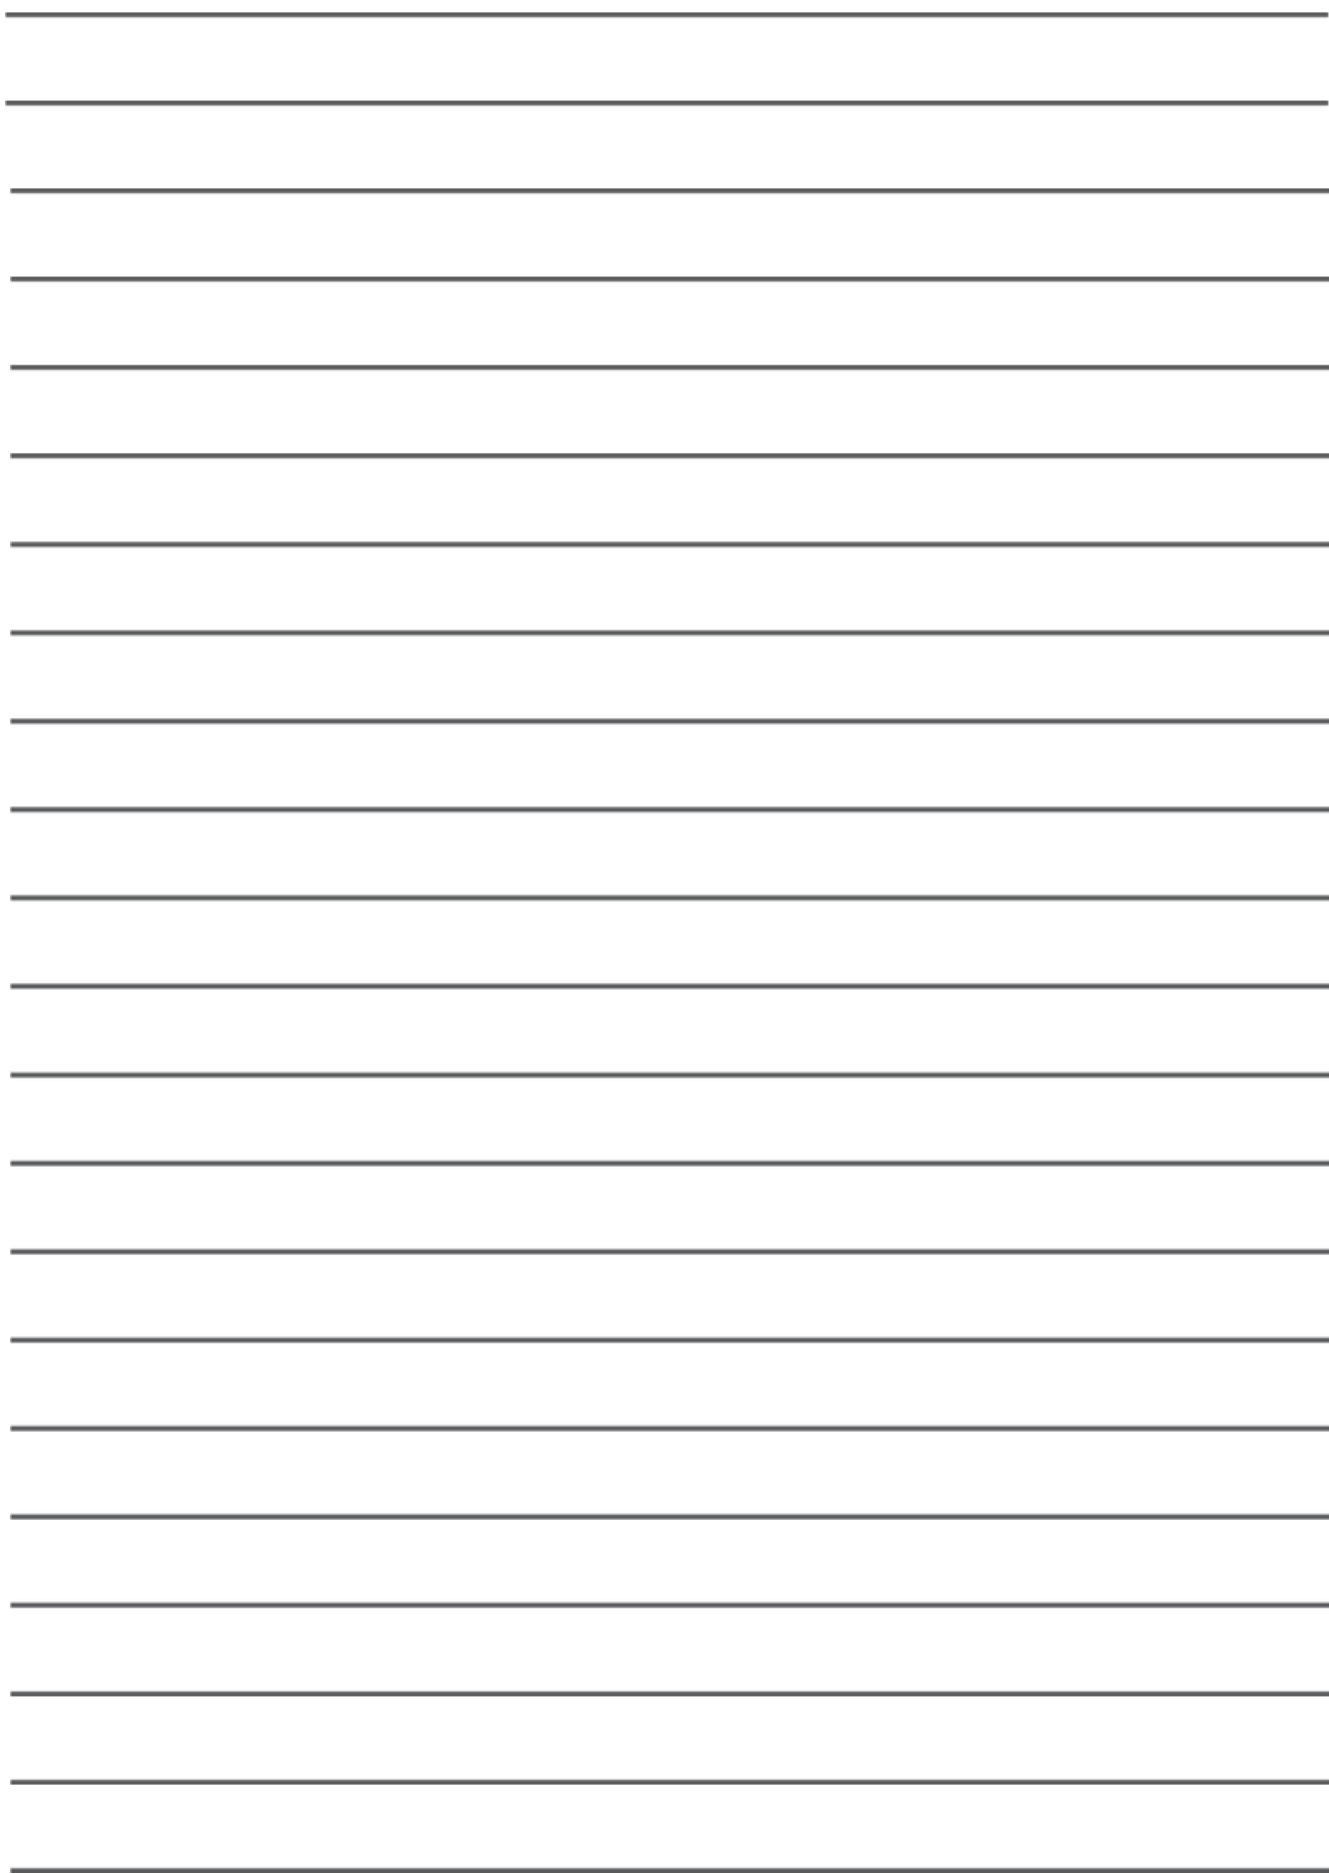

Remembering things wrong sometimes can help you grow as a person. Mistakes show you what to learn. Even famous writers work hard, changing and fixing their stories to improve them.
